

Marcus Blake Press Release

Truesource Publishing Presses 3610 Blueridge suites Garland, Texas 75042 www.truesourcepublishing.com
Office: (972) 272-7900 Fax: (972) 272-3055 info@truesourcepublishing.com

Announcing Marcus Blake's

Sex Game the RED edition

A new special edition of the award winning book will be released February 8, 2010

ISBN 978-1-932996-32-6

Sex, love, distrust, and a looming curiosity is the battlefield for which the game of love is played. It's a game of curiosity for the players as they make their way through the sex games of dating in the 21st century. This is the story of 10 people as they date and try to find love in the modern age while their lives are intertwined with one another. As told by Trinidad, owner of the local bar that they all visit in their spare time, Sex Game centers on four stories with multiple themes that convey one question- what does it take to find true love in the modern age. The characters will love, betray, distrust, give up, and fight for what they believe is their true love. They will make hard choices along the way and in the end these characters will play the sex game.

the RED edition is a special edition of the book containing information on the characters and a quiz readers can take to determine what their "Sex Game" is. This special edition also contains a preface by the author on the history of the book titled "What's Your Sex Game?" In addition the RED edition is also the award edition of the book - Sex Game is a National Literary Awards winner from the National Literary Foundation. It's the 2008 S.T.I.F. award winner for the category of sexual tales in literature (specifically for the category of sexual tales in fiction. the RED edition has also come to be known as the banned version since Sex Game has been named as one of the most censored and banned books since 2007 when it came out.

Check out more about the book at www.sexgamethebook.com and www.whatsyoursexgame.com

Available at Amazon.com, Barnes and Noble, Borders, Books A Million The Starving Writers Bookstore.

Paperback ; 8 x 5 inches. Distributed through Ingram books and returnable to the publisher. Retail Price $15.99

Marcus Blake was born in Chicago, Illinois in 1977. He grew up in Chicago and East Texas. His education is in History, Literature, Psychology, and Religion & Philosophy. Marcus Blake has studied at many universities throughout the United States, but his Alma Mata is Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas, which is also where he wrote his first book, The Music of Life. Mr. Blake is a Poet, Writer, and Historian. He has taught in the public school system, served in the Army, and been a guest speaker at Education and Literary events throughout the world. Marcus Blake is now a full time writer, teacher, and lecturer He makes his home in the Dallas/Ft. Worth Texas area

Marcus Blake teaches and is the creator of the continuing education course, The Art of Storytelling. He is the editor of some of Starving Writers Publishing's literary journals. He guides and tutors beginning writers while maintaining an active lecturing schedule. Marcus Blake is very active in the literary world. Marcus Blake is also a professional musician; he writes music and is an accomplished piano player. In 2008 he won his first two national literary awards. He won the 2008 American Book Choice Award for Fiction for his book Returning Home in recognition for the best of Independent Literature in 2008. He also won the 2008 S.T.I.F. Award for his book Sex Game in recognition for the best of Sexual Literature in 2008. Marcus Blake is an author that that writes not for entertainment, but for the great art of telling a story. He writes to tell a truth; it's a truth about the human condition that comes from the observations made from a great writer. As he would tell you, writing is his passion, his career, and his source for inspiration. He travels throughout the world most of year lecturing, teaching, and writing. Find out more about Marcus Blake at www.marcusblake.net.

